GAINOUS APPRECIATION DAY

The crowd awaits Mr. Gainous our principal.

Jim Ford and Mr. Zimmerman conversing with Mr. Gainous

Originally founded on December 7, 1953, Gar-Field Senior High School celebrated its 30th anniversary on December 8, of this year. The area on which the first Gar-Field was originally built, where Saunders Middle School now stands, was donated by Mr. M. G. Manderfield and Mr. Gilmer Garber, thus the name "Gar-Field."

In 1973, the student body moved from the old address, which was built to relieve overcrowding from Occoquan High School, to its present location — 14000 Smoketown Road.

Four principals have presided over Gar-Field during its 30 year history. They were Herbert J. Saunders (1953-63), Samuel P. Cox (1963-74), Dr. David D. Meyers (1974-78), and Philip F. Gainous (1978-present).

Gar-Field has changed and grown alot since 1953. The first enrollment at 500 has increased to 2,600. All that remains from the early years is a never-dying school spirit that still flourishes.

Every school day is full of friends, laughter, and good times. But the day is also made up of classrooms and teachers. Here at Gar-Field, we are offered a variety of courses. All of these classes, individually, and as a whole, have one special purpose. They are designed to enlighten us, educate us, and fill us with knowledge. Anyone can be intelligent, but without the ability to learn, not even the simplest things can be done.

Through high school, we are offered an education just waiting to be acquired. It takes discipline and dedication, but one can never get something for nothing. Still, there is something wonderful about learning and education; once knowledge is acquired, it can never be taken away. It is something that will last a lifetime. Learning is a precious thing. It helps you to achieve your goals, and get the very best out of life.

ON OUR WAY TO LEARNING

ACADEMICS

Straight Talk

Every student takes classes in which they do well, and some, not so well. But nearly everyone holds some opinion about the largest of the academic departments, English. For four long years, everybody has to take English, and for many it's the longest period of the day. Compositions, spelling tests, grammar excercises, novel assignments, poetry, and literature work are some of the common tortures the students must endure. (After all, what is exciting about spelling tests?) Plus, in the junior and senior years, the infamous term paper strikes terror into the hearts of the upperclassmen. Who says teachers don't get even? You can usually see the ridiculous smirks on their faces. Sometimes, the attempt to survive such overwhelming odds seems in vain to students. But one can survive and prosper if he wants to. After all that reading, writing, thinking, and pondering, quite a few minds have been thoroughly blown away, educated, or both. English is necessary, and it can teach you a lot. And, look at the bright side — we all graduate sooner or later!

Michelle Battaglia can't wait to take Sociology when she's a senior!

A debate in Mr. Johnson's class.

Here at the illustrious Gar-Field, we, the students, have the privilege of taking three to five years of Social Studies. The bare minimum of history is three years.

We all know at sometime in life, everyone starts at the bottom. You guessed it, the freshman year. Freshmen take World Studies I. Wouldn't you know it, they have to relearn what they did not learn last year! The next year enables all past freshmen to move up on the ladder of life, because this is the only year in which social studies is not required. However; there are some sophomores who are history buffs, so an exciting course called World Studies II is offered.

The start of the junior year finds most students taking American Studies I. This course examines the early beginnings of America.

Finally, but most importantly, is the SENIOR year! This is the best year of high school, and it offers two social studies courses. Seniors can take an educational course called American Studies II (alias Government), and a human relationship class called Sociology. The years spent in social studies classes are history in the making for students at Gar-Field.

It All Adds Up

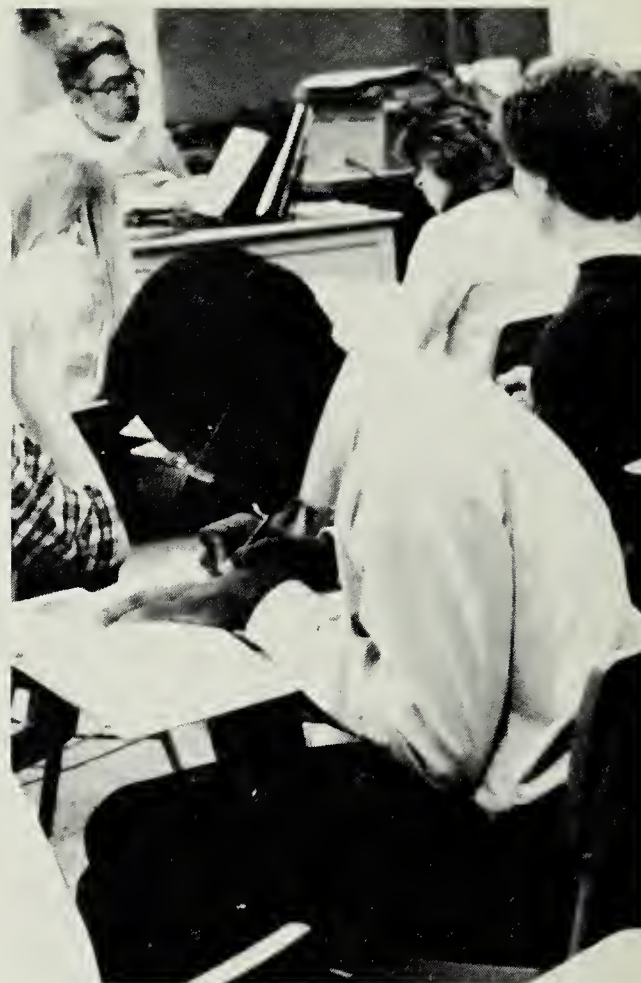

Math is a four letter word which strikes fear into the hearts of more than a few Gar-Field students. Although math is not one of the more popular subjects offered here, it is one of the most important.

This word, math, is not just a class, it is a tool used to describe our world, and the situations it presents us with. Math is not all formulas and functions, it is used in the "real world" more than the average person realizes.

Whether the extent of your mathematical knowledge is counting on your fingers, or being able to derive complex formulas, everyone uses math to some degree. People in many professions; bricklayers, policemen, computer programmers, and nuclear physicists all make use of their mathematical skills.

As you can see, math is not a subject to be feared, but something you can always count on.

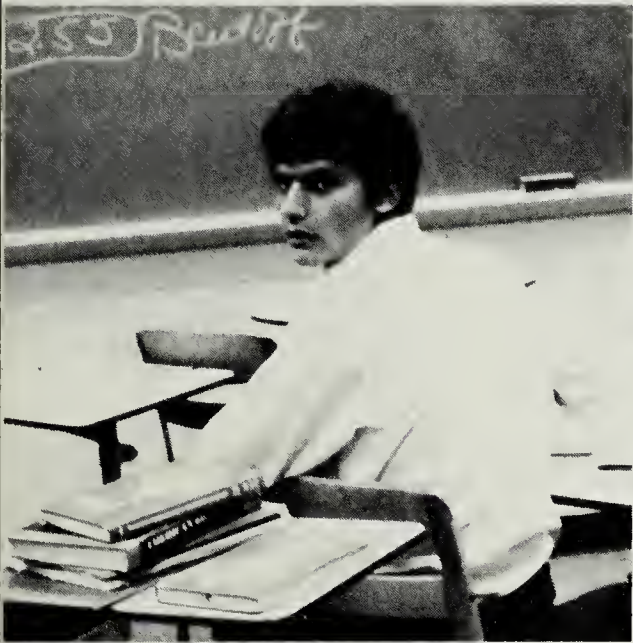

Math is a breeze for Walter Beardsley, Sandy Grantham, and Brian Friend.

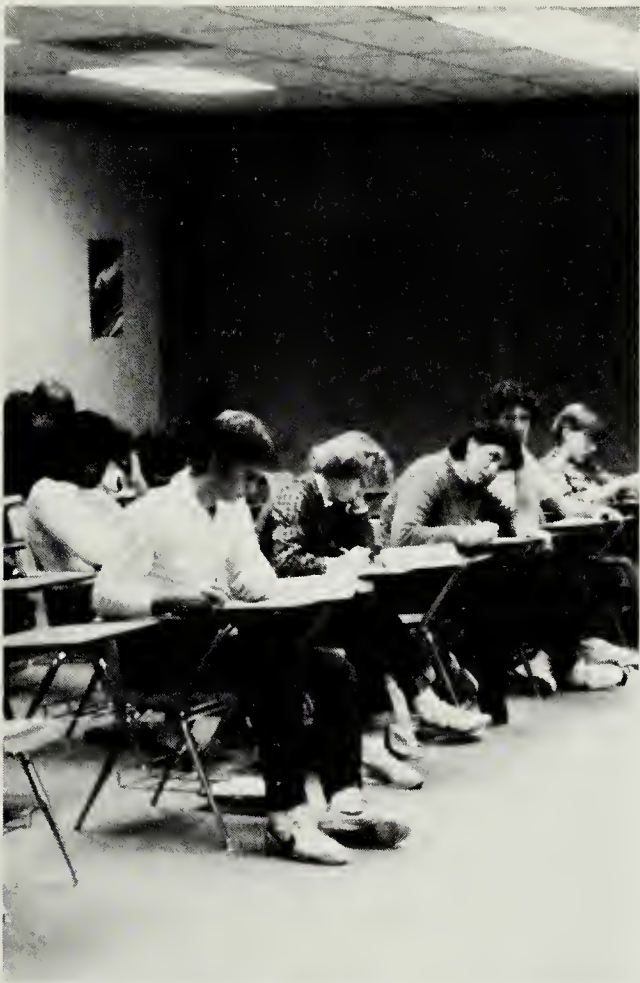

The Calculus geniuses: Larry Bates, Matt Rotelli, Steve Wichelt, and Ricky Bilodeau.

Programming the Future

Are you tired of hearing people complain about the Age of Computers? Some say that computers will mess up everything from your mailing address to your credit rating. Fortunately, many of these goofs are the result of human error. Fortunate, you say? Yes, fortunate because these problems can be corrected, simply by placing the right people behind the machine. Skilled operators are needed. Next question: Where do you get the needed skills? For many, the answer is right under their noses. Yes, within the walls of our very own Gar-Field lies the answer. With the courses offered in Data Processing, you can be that skilled, sought-after person.

Into computers, but on a smaller scale? Well, never fear, because once again good ol' G-F has the solution. This time, you can learn all about home computers in the popular Computer Math course. Here, you can create programs for everything from a weekly football pool to money management to video games. So, anyone out there complaining about the present state of things, here's your chance to do your part in programming the future.

Test Tubes and Bunsen Burners

Today, science plays a very important part in our world. Every day, it is constantly changing, and we need to learn the basic concepts of nature and the universe. Here at Gar-Field, the average student has an opportunity to take one or more years of science. The classes include Earth Science, Biology, Advanced Biology, Chemistry, Advanced Chemistry, and Physics. The subjects range from laws and properties of nature to structures and life cycles of organisms.

Each year, the Science Department holds a science fair. This fair gives students a chance to perform experiments using the scientific method, on the basis of their own initiative. Through lectures and bookwork, students absorb processes and formulas. These in turn are applied to the "real world" in the form of labs. Many of our society's future geologists, physicists, and biologists will graduate from Gar-Field. Who knows, your lab partner in Chemistry may turn out to be the next Einstein!

Job Training

What do a piston ring, a transistor, and a hair curler have in common? The answer is vocational education. These courses are for students planning to attend a trade school or enter directly into the job market after high school. Some think these classes are just "basket weaving courses." On the contrary, they are very demanding. The classes include Masonry, Construction, Auto Mechanics, Licensed Practical Nursing, Cosmetology, and Distributive Education. These instructional courses enable students to feel responsibility. They can hold their heads high, knowing they are well prepared for the "real world." There are many other job-related courses at Gar-Field, including Drafting, Electricity, Mechanical Drawing, and Communications. This vocational preparation department is a very good program, giving students an interesting career that could last a lifetime.

It's Everybody's Business

Although it is best known for typing, the Business Department also includes other areas of learning in this constantly growing segment of our society. It's everybody's business. There are many types of courses in this department including General Business. In this class, one acquires an understanding of how big business works, along with its capability to "run over the little guy." Other courses, such as Stenography, Office Technology, and Data Processing help those who wish to pursue a career as a secretary or clerk. Accounting is also included, teaching students how to manage money and balance the books. Advanced courses work to improve and finalize skills taught in the first year. Business Management teaches you the ups and downs of running your own business. Also on the list is Personal Typing, a one semester course, which teaches basic typing knowledge. The useful skills learned through the Business Department can prepare students directly for the job market.

Makin' Music

A lot of dedication is required to succeed in the music field. There is a demand of excellence in every performance. Students at Gar-Field possess a great deal of musical talent. Luckily, they are given an opportunity to improve and utilize these talents, thanks to an excellent music department.

Through daily practice and scheduled concerts, students learn to develop their skills, and increase their love of music. The levels of musical instruction range from beginning to advanced; the stage band and Dominants being the most elite.

Ask any member of this "musical family," competition is tough, but most definitely worth the challenge. Talent is only part of the effort.

The Making of a Household

Thinking about a single life? Are you wondering how you will survive in this cold, cruel world ALL ALONE? Well, don't sweat it. Believe it or not, Gar-Field can help you with this desperate predicament. The answer is Home Economics. This department could be your salvation. Through Home Ec, you can learn such useful skills as sewing, clothing management, cooking, and organizing your home. In the single living course, you can pick up useful tidbits dealing with: how to live with (or without) your roomies, managing your Swiss bank accounts, and how to supplement your junk food diet with a little nutritious substance once in a while. If family life is more your style, the Child Development course can help eliminate some of those little surprises that often occur when raising children. So, stop fretting and give your fingernails a break; sign up for Home Economics.

In this ever-increasing exchange of international culture, knowledge of a foreign language is becoming very important. Garfield's excellent foreign language department offers secondary languages for study. The languages include Spanish, French, German, and Latin. English is also taught as a second language.

The levels of study range from one to five years. The first year is generally very basic, as students learn beginning vocabulary and sentence structures. The second through fifth years deal with increasing knowledge literature, vocabulary, and culture.

Each foreign language has its own club. These clubs are designed to help accent the classroom studies. Dealing mainly with culture, the clubs make trips to restaurants, plays, and other cultural activities.

Let's Get Physical

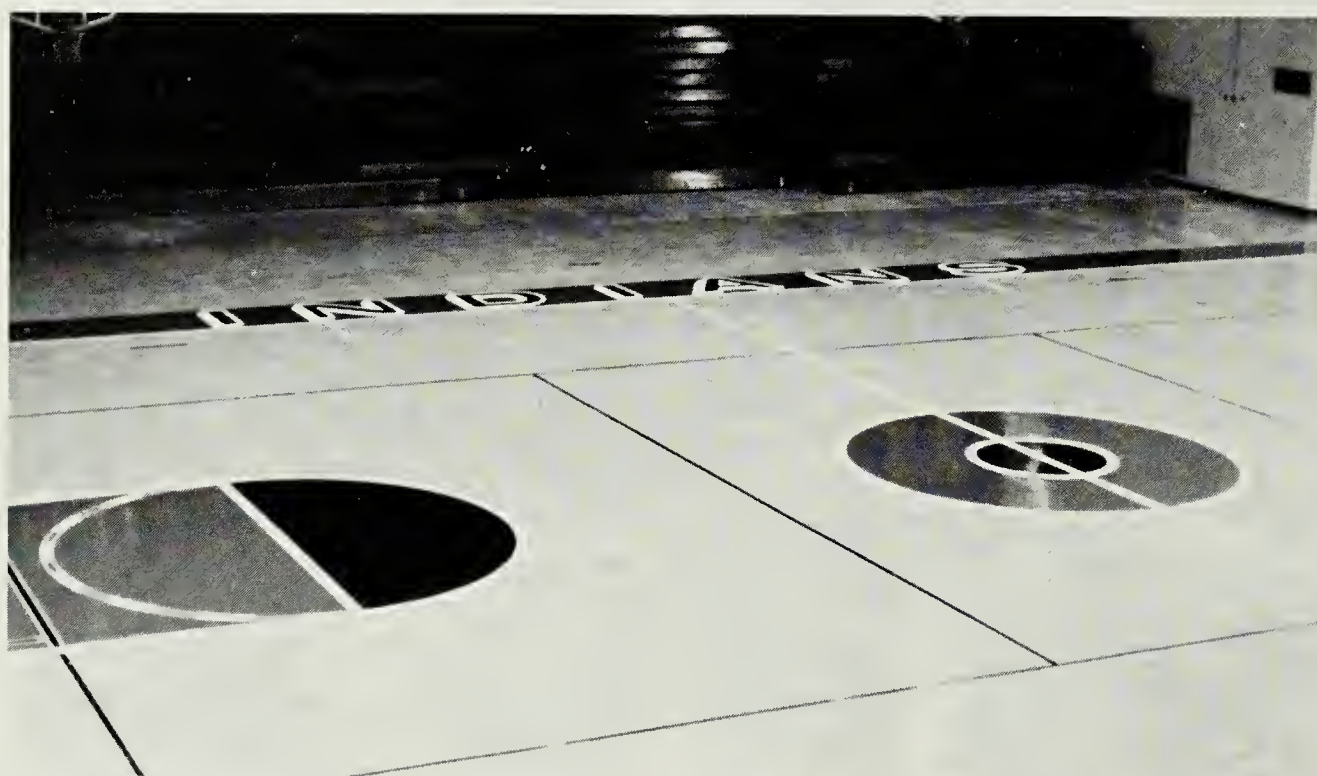

Physical education, or P.E., as it is commonly known, is a course that all students are required to take some time during their high school years. Two years, P.E. 9 and 10, are usually taken in succession during the freshman and sophomore years, as many students wish to "get it over with early." Health is included in both courses for a period of twelve weeks. One exception to this is the substitution of Driver's Education in place of a health unit in the sophomore year. During this time the students are taught the rules of the road, along with various techniques to help keep the rubber-side down while out on the highway. Passing the classroom phase enables advancement to on-the-range driving, when students are let loose on the road.

Only two years in this course are required, but students who enjoy the active life may enroll in a semester course of Elective P.E. So, come on Gar-Field, let's get physical!

The John Venti award was given to Jim for his athletic and academic ability and his leadership and sportsmanship. One of the highlights of the team's season was a tie with the eventual state champion Potomac Panthers.

Junior Matt Victor and Seniors Jim Portell and Acie Schrewsbury were chosen to participate on the All-District team.

The Gar-Field team is looking forward to another great team with many members of the team returning to the team to continue the winning tradition.

SUMMER VACATION??

Members of the girls' tennis team such as Beth White and Karen Fowler practiced in the scorching August sun to perfect their winning form. Teams that compete during the fall season take advantage of the time allotted during the summer to practice as much as possible.

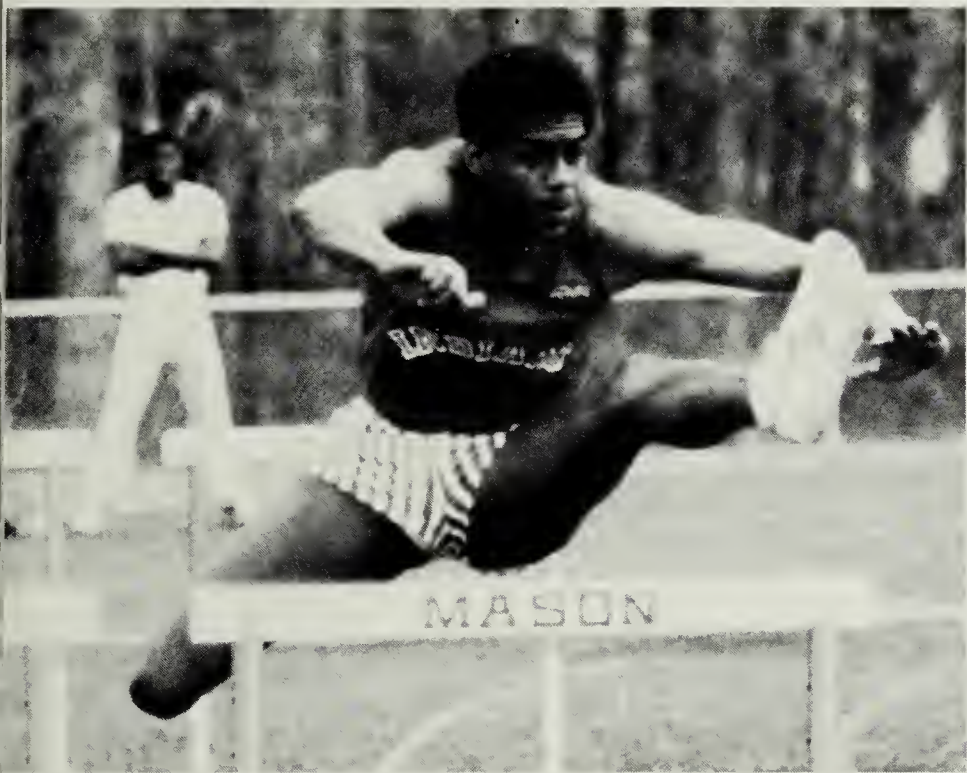

Summer Vacation?

June 9, 1983, the last day of another school year. For most students this marks the beginning of a lazy, fun filled summer. But for many of Gar-Field's athletes it means the beginning of a lot of hard work in preparation for the long seasons ahead. Almost all of our athletes use this "vacation" to condition their bodies and improve their skills in order to carry out the Indians winning tradition.

Many athletes attend camps to receive advice from different sources than they are normally exposed to during the regular season. Some of our coaches hold camps for their athletes, such as baseball and wrestling. This gives the coaches a chance to scout the talent for the upcoming season. Many athletes opt not to attend these camps and clinics, but it's not because they don't want to improve their performances. Many of these athletes lift weights and run daily to stay in top condition. A trip to any of the local weight rooms during the summer will show you all the heart our athletes put in during the off season.

So the next time you hear someone talk about "summer vacation," think about it. Is it really a vacation after all?

Several members of the track team competed in meets during the summer. Senior hurdler Pat Mann performed excellently. He won several medals at various meets during his "vacation," including a gold medal at the Junior Olympics. Gar-Field graduate Roger Bennett also traveled to the Junior Olympics in Pennsylvania to turn in an award winning performance in the triple jump.

Many Gar-Field Athletes workout with weights to keep in shape during the summer. Wrestler Chris Varner and Baseball player Kevin Manbeck were regulars at the Dale City Recreation Center weight room this summer.

Chuck Toler, an Indian wrestler, competed in many wrestling tournaments during the off-season in preparation for the highlight of his summer. With the support of many, Chuck was able to attend the Nationals competition in Indiana. Chuck gained national recognition with a performance that won him two medals. Attending these many tournaments gave Chuck an advantage over his opponents during the wrestling season.

Practice Makes Perfect

After sixth period most Gar-Field students rush home to grab a snack and settle in front of the television to watch the latest episode of "General Hospital." But our Gar-Field athletes are not your average students, 1:55 is only the beginning of the day for them. Most teams practice at least two hours a day, six days a week. These practice sessions include weight lifting, cardiovascular conditioning, and refinement of the athlete's skill. Coaches use this time to go over game strategy for the upcoming competition and to help the team members prepare mentally.

These practices are draining, physically and mentally. This is when our Indian athletes push themselves to the limit, all for that one moment of victory.

Beth White, a sophomore, puts in long hours on the tennis court.

To all my friends:

The last four years at G-F have been full of good times thanks to the many special people I was lucky enough to meet. I'll never forget all the great friends I've come to know. I can't express my sorrow as we all separate and go our different ways. To everyone I wish the best of life and luck. May all of your dreams and aspirations come true. I thank you all for your friendship. Hopefully, our paths will cross again in the future. To Lisa Tilly and Julie Novitsky I give special thanks for all the friendship, love, good times and special moments we have shared. I'd trade my life for you two. Take care, all my love to you both! And of course, best of luck to you, Raj. I doubt I would have made it through this maniacal adventure without you. We've had a lot of good laughs and good times, bud. CHEERLEADERS

The Varsity Cheerleading Squad lead by Carol Coloma, Lynn Corman and Somer Sloan, proved to be an irreplaceable part of the halftime activities during the football and basketball seasons. All of the squads did a fine job of rallying the fans to support the teams on their way to victory.

Chandra Medcalf is all smiles at a football game.

INDIANETTES

Team captain Barbie Gazda

The 1983-84 Indianettes were led in a spectacular year of performances by their captain Barbie Gazda and co-captains Betsy Rumph and Jennifer Dubuisson. The Indianettes started out by winning first place in the Fourth of July parade. From there, they went to camp at the University of Richmond where they won a Sweepstakes trophy. They did a great job performing at the Varsity football and basketball games.

The Indianettes would like to thank their sponsors for all their help and support this past year.

ALL-COUNTY CHOIR

1983-84 All-County Choir

Gar-Field's fine choir department sent 43 students out of a group of 120 to participate in All-County Choir this year. The concert was held at Woodbridge Senior High on November 18 and 19, and was very well performed.

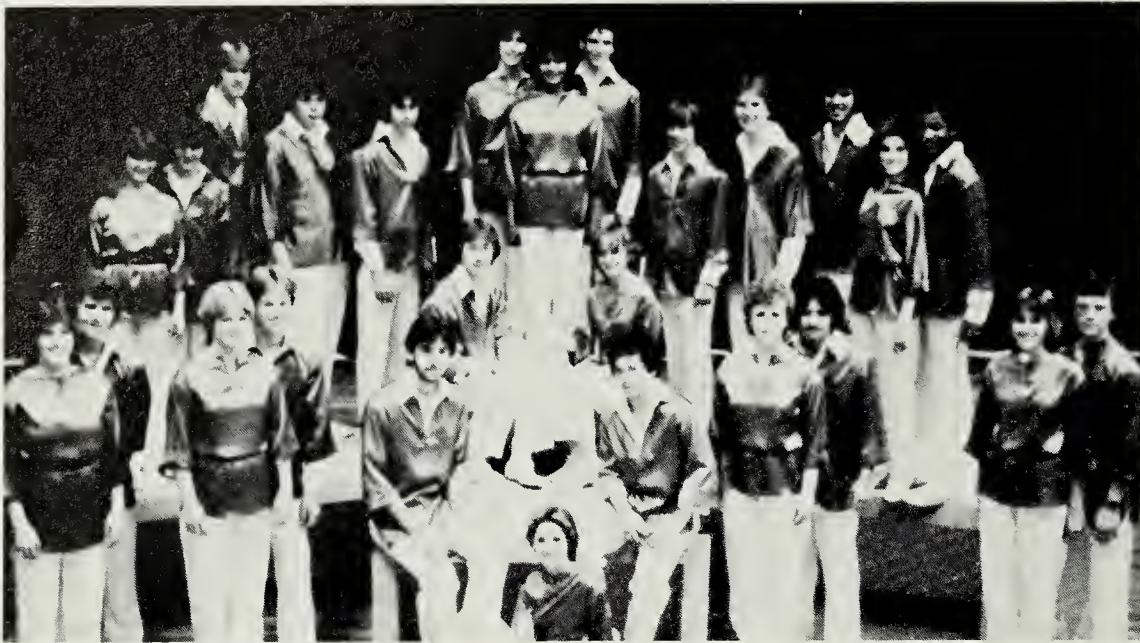

HONORS CHOIR

1983-84 Honors Choir

The Gar-Field Choir Department sent six very talented singers to Honors Choir this year. The auditions, which are open only to seniors, were held at VCU in October. The students selected were Linda Wheelehan, Mary Jane Lombardo, and Dawn Matera as sopranos; Karla Swabb and Pam Sessoms as altos; and Steve Buchner as bass. Also selected but unable to attend was Jim Ford. The concert was held in Roanoke, Virginia.

Kay Stringer sings a song that brings back memories.

The “Dominants” is Gar-Field’s award winning Jazz/Show Choir. The group is comprised of twenty-seven vocalists and instrumentalists that must audition each year for their part. Their repertoire ranges from soul and blues to more up beat contemporary selections that they rehearse each day in class.

The students participating in the “Dominants” find the experience to be very enjoyable while also learning performing techniques such as enunciation, stage personality, professional vocal projection, choreography, and self-confidence.

This group has traveled to New York City for the Eastern Jazz and Pop Festival, as well as the Blue Ridge Show Choir Invitational and Mid Atlantic Show Choir Festival, winning first place trophies in all three. The “Dominants” have also traveled to neighboring elementary and middle schools for very enjoyable and exciting request performances.

Colleen Clark, Glen LeTourneau, Steve Buchner, and Vicky Kastl sing “I’m gettin’ nothin’ for Christmas” in rehearsal for the Christmas Concert.

Mark Putiyon and Billy Novitsky can’t stop smiling during choreography practice.

Bill Harder, Steve Buchner, Mark Putiyon, and Billy Novitsky in perfect harmony.

Vicky Kastl and Mark Putiyon, a special duet.

Jennifer Turner and Bob Goewey find that it's hard to sing and smile for the camera at the same time.

Practice makes perfect.

The whole group is "Singing the blues" while watching their director carefully.

Key Club International is a High school service organization, sponsored by Kiwanis International. Members engage in such activities as working the snack bar, ringing bells at Christmas time, and holding blood drives. They also go to, and participate in, District and International conventions.

HISTORY CLUB

1983-84 Gar-Field History Club

Gar-Field has a new club joining it's ranks — the history club. The idea to form such an organization is not new. For several years the idea has been considered by both the faculty and the student body. This year, a group of students got together and approached Mr. Bailey and Mrs. Bittner, asking them if they would be willing to serve as sponsors. They accepted, and hence, the birth of a new club. This is an organization geared towards students with an interest in any period of local, state, national, or world history. The club has discussions, trips, and related activities throughout the year.

Students Against Drunk Driving is an awareness group formed to help students and parents become aware of drunk driving problems. Some of our main goals are A. To get more strick drunk driving laws and penalties passed; B. To help unaware students and parents become aware of everyday problems that occur concerning drunk driving; C. To help other area schools start SADD organizations and to work with them; D. To raise drinking age to 21; E. To get students more involved with others; F. There are also the biannual Awareness Weeks, one in December and one in April or May. The one in December is before the holidays. The Awareness Week in the Spring is before the prom and graduation; G. We also have guest speakers coming to speak to the school about drunk driving.

LITERARY MAGAZINE “Shaman”

The 83-84 “Shaman”

Gar-Field's Literary Magazine, “The Shaman,” gives students the opportunity to submit works of art, poetry, and articles as well as partake in the production of the magazine. Any student may participate in this, and the Shaman staff meets regularly during activity period.

Scott Knuth

Scott Knuth, a tall handsome senior this year, is a very talented young man, especially when it comes to music. Since entering Gar-Field, Scott has participated in many of our fine music department's classes. These include Orchestra, which Scott took as a freshman; Symphonic Band which he participated in for four years; Jazz Band, which he was a member of for three years; and also Marching Band for three years; the last year in which, he was one of the three Drum Majors. Scott has also been selected for All-County Band for three years and played in the back-up band for the Jazz/Show Choir, the "Dominants."

Other than being able to play the alto, tenor, and baritone saxophones, he has achieved the academic rank to be selected for American Legion Boys' State, and Who's Who in American High School Students.

Scott, an active Eagle Scout, plans to major in Biology and minor in Music when he goes to college. Scott, we wish you well!

Janice Creneti

Janice Creneti, a senior this year, has been very active in both choir and drama. She has proven herself to be a talented singer here at Gar-Field as well as in the Northern Virginia area. She has participated in the Concert Choir and the All-County Chorus for the past three years. She also represented Gar-Field in the All-Regional Choir her junior and senior years. Janice has appeared in numerous drama club productions during the past three years, including "The Music Man," "The Man Who Came To Dinner," and "Safe Harbor," as well as two children's plays.

Janice has been a member of the National Honor Society for the past two years. She was also named in Who's Who Among American High School Students. This year, Janice is participating in the Teen Counseling program along with everything else. Her ambitions for the future are to go to college at the University of Boston where she wants to major in marine biology and minor in theatre.

Senior Will

We, the graduating class of 1984, being of sound minds and bodies, do hereby leave the following:

To the Junior class of 1985, we leave our hope for the future, and our ability to "get through" the last year of high school.

To the Sophomore class of 1986, we leave our spirit, and our zest for life.

To the Freshman class of 1987, we leave all of our unfinished homework with the hope that you will finish yours.

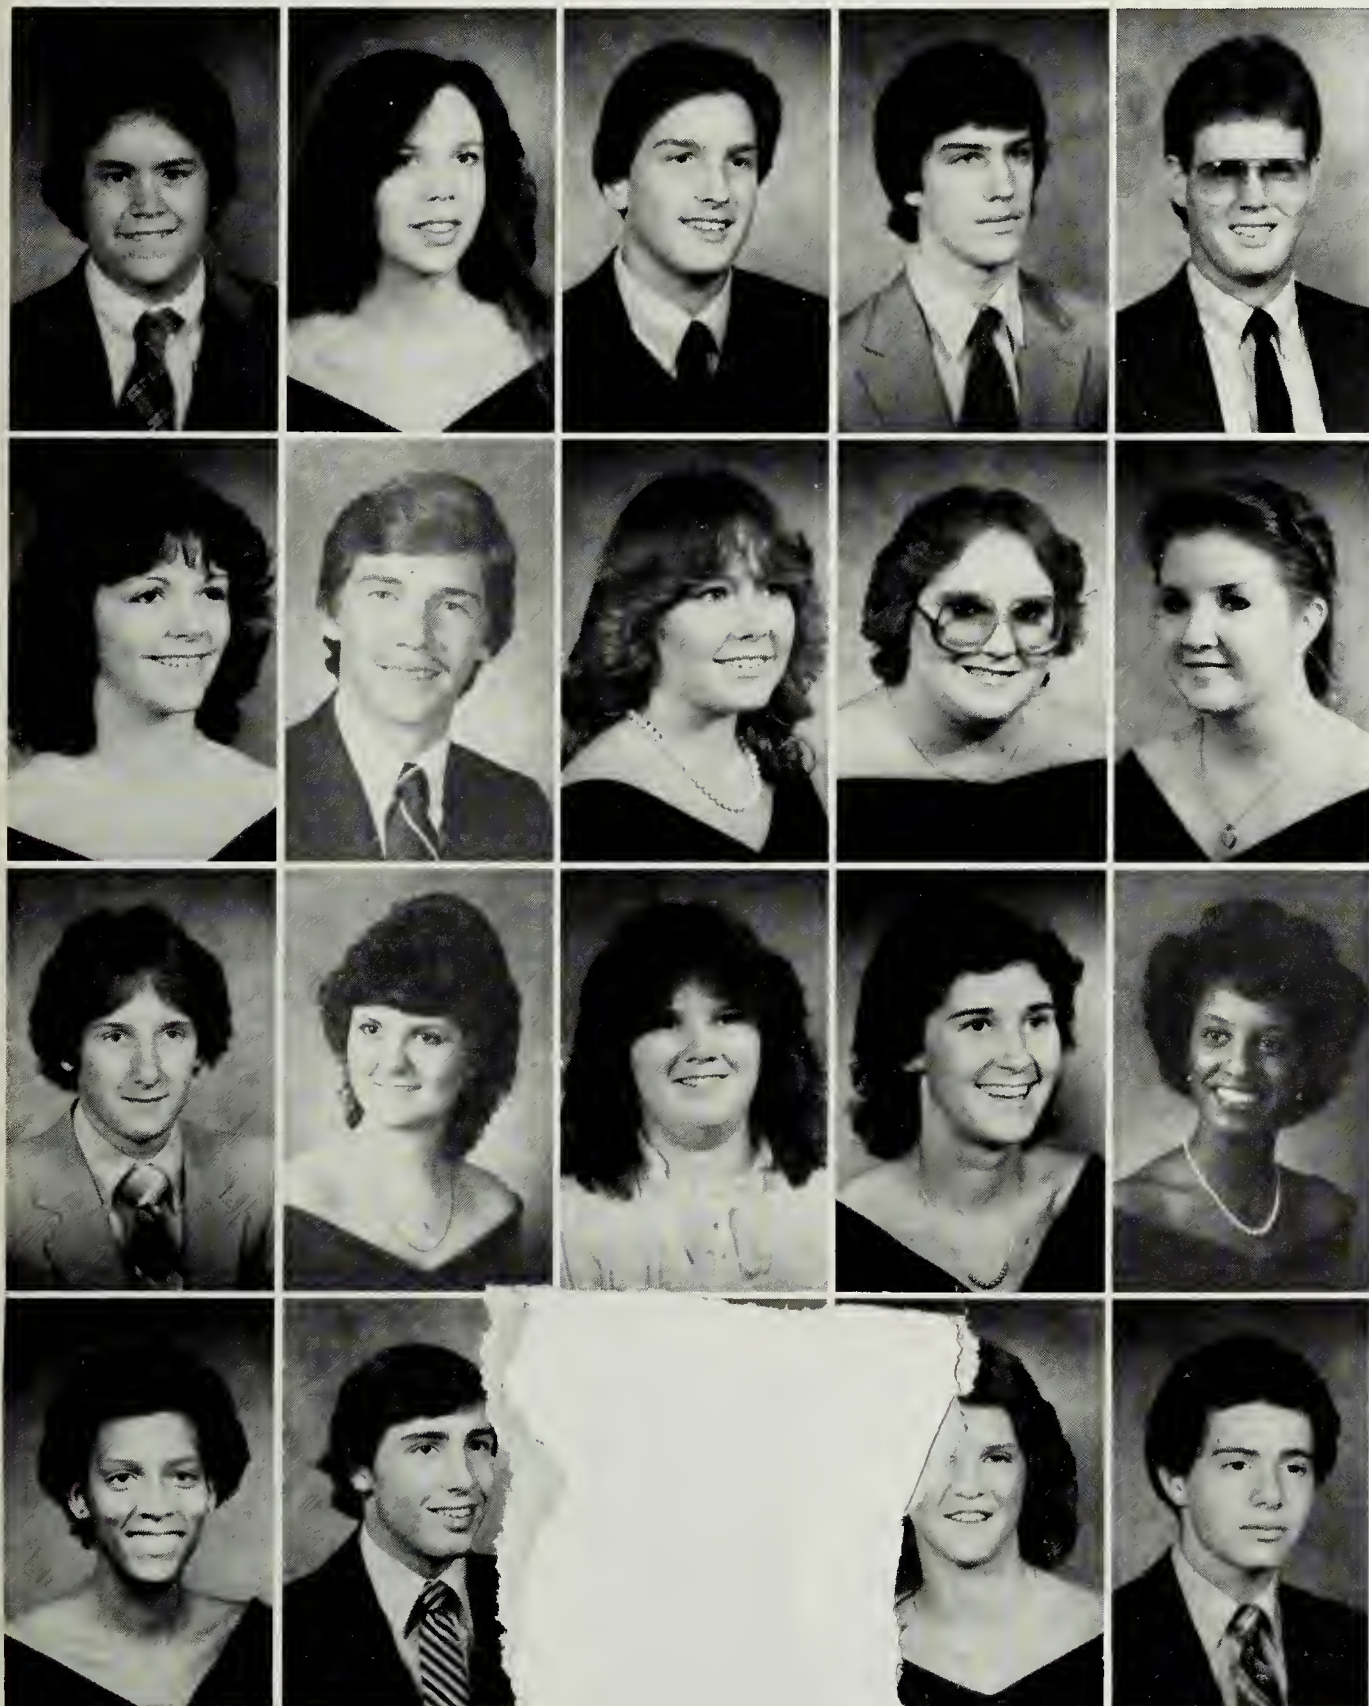

To the Faculty, we leave our eternal gratitude for making us work, forcing us to try when we did not want to, and helping us make it through our final year.

To Guidance, we leave all of the hassels we gave you about college applications, with the sincere hope that next year will be easier.

To the Administration, we leave our thanks for keeping us in when we wandered, and for showing us the way to a better life.

To Mr. Gainous, we leave our special thanks. Thank you for sticking up for us and making our school days a little easier.

And to Gar-Field, we can leave only what you gave. You were the source of our spirit and made up most of our lives. To you we leave our love, support, and our memories. We'll never forget you.

SENIOR SUPERLATIVES

Best Personality

Jim Ford and Kathy White were both deservedly voted "Best Personality"

Most Popular

Pam Sessoms was voted "Most Popular" as was David Black who was unavailable.

Most Attractive

"No Popularity Contest"

Every year, seniors look forward to voting for the Senior Superlatives. Well, here they are and the senior tradition lives on. This shows who the seniors feel are the most spirited, best dressed, most talkative, etc.

Many feel that Senior Superlatives are just a popularity contest, but they aren't. The people chosen have proven to the class that they deserve the superlative they were voted for. Tracey Baker is always well dressed, and Landon Hale is definitely always talking. So, despite what some students think, senior superlatives are not a popularity contest. It is just a way for the seniors to remember the most prominent people in their class.

Denise Jones and Eric Kreinar were voted "most attractive" by the senior class.

Most Likely to Succeed are Lisa Powell and Pat Cone.

MS. GAR-FIELD

Karen Gianni

Karen Gianni has been selected as this year's Ms. Gar-Field. Karen has contributed a lot during her years here. As a sophomore she was business editor of the Shaman, member of the Culture club, and the band. As a junior she was class treasurer, a teen counselor, and again a band member. As a senior she is SGC Vice-President, Homecoming Queen, and a DECA contributor. The class of 1984 wishes Karen well in the years to come.

MR. GAR-FIELD

DeWayne Wilson has been selected as this year's Mr. Gar-Field. He has been active in football for all four high school years. This year he was captain of the Varsity football team. He was named the Outstanding Defensive Back for 1983 and was also this year's Homecoming King. The Class of 1984 wishes DeWayne well for the future.

I, Professor Gerard Grendleston, have just returned from a journey to the deepest, darkest jungle called "On Our Way." In this jungle, I made a great discovery! There are people living there who call themselves "students" of a society referred to as Gar-Field.

This is a very strange and backwards place. The students are always talking about going "home." I asked them, "Isn't Gar-Field your home?" and they looked at me strangely and said, "No." I could get no further enlightenment from them, as to where their "home" really is.

Another thing that I thought strange and backwards, is that they do things the exact opposite that we do. If their home is the place where they actually live, as we do, then they are indeed an upsidedown place. While we sleep at home and go out to have fun; they sleep at Gar-Field, and go home to have fun!! At least, that is what I comprehended from their conversations.

Having now returned from my four year study of these students and their seperate tribes, I have decided to report them to the public. While looking through the following pictures, and the few comments I have made, please keep in mind what you have just read.

Sincerely yours,

"ON OUR WAY UP"

Being a "Junior" seems to be the highlight of a student's life. This clan has been nicknamed, "On Our Way Up," and it fits. This tribe is full of vivacious, spirited students who have just realized that life was meant to be fun. It would appear that they have just one thought in mind, and that is to be permitted to enter the Senior tribe. So all through their days as Juniors, the students constantly compete with the Seniors to show that they have spirit too. I believe that this is the most competitive group of them all.

Not even the cold weather can dampen our spirit.

The Beginning of Spirit

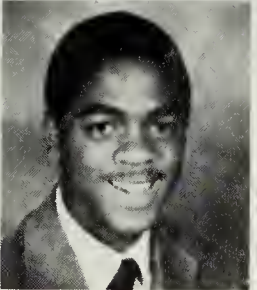

When a student becomes a junior, strange things occur. While before he went through life quietly, not making any noise, he suddenly becomes spirited. He realizes that only two more years of high school are left, and it is a time to have as much fun as possible before his time is up. The Juniors certainly give the Seniors good competition when it comes to pep rallies, decorating for spirit week, and homecoming floats.

Sophomores

ON OUR WAY, NO WAY

The "Sophomore" clan is also known as the "On Our Way, No Way" group. The reason for this, I think is because they simply don't know where they are going. I see them walk around G-F just waiting to be allowed to become "Juniors." I feel sorry for them, but one thing I must admit, although these "Sophomores" don't know where they are going or who they are, they do show spirit and a will to succeed. These things are needed if a student is to pass from "Sophomore" to "Junior."

Students hard at work on their Biology classwork.

Drivers Education: The Experience

Imagine getting behind the wheel of a car. It's you and your car against the elements. Either you can control the car and live, or lose control and risk possible injury to yourself and your passengers.

This is the experience most new drivers go through, although they may not realize it.

In order to give the students the experience they need, and the confidence, G-F has made Drivers Education a regular part of P.E. 10. The students learn the necessary book work, but most importantly, they get behind the wheel of a moving car.

Freshmen

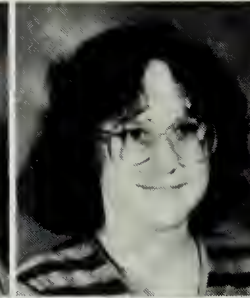

ON OUR WAY, IN THE WAY

The students, belonging to the "Freshmen" clan, also have another name to which they are referred. This name "On Our Way, In the Way," was given to them by the eldest clan called the "Seniors." I felt sorry for the "Freshmen," because no one seemed to like them. Even though considered the underdog, the "Freshmen" have a lot of spunk, which unfortunately, sometimes lands them into trouble.

Time for lunch!

The Lunchroom Experience

One of the least enjoyable things a freshman will ever have to deal with in G-F is the lunchroom lines. The food lines often seem to stretch on forever and never move. People in the lines often rush forward whether the person in front of them is moving or not. Then, because the lines are so long and time consuming that once the student has his food he only has five or ten minutes to eat. The lunchroom experience in G-F can be a frustrating experience and few people forget it.

ON OUR WAY TO CLASS

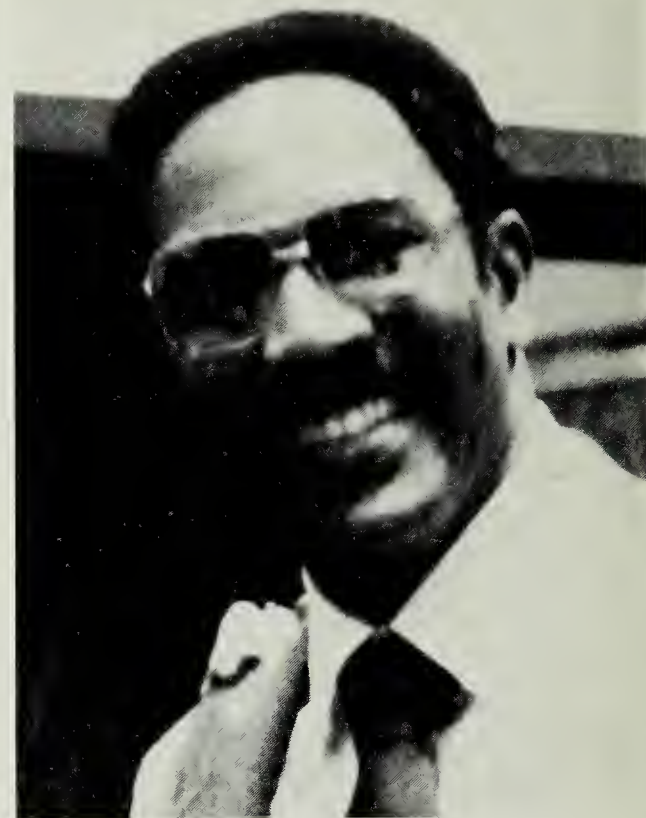

FACULTY

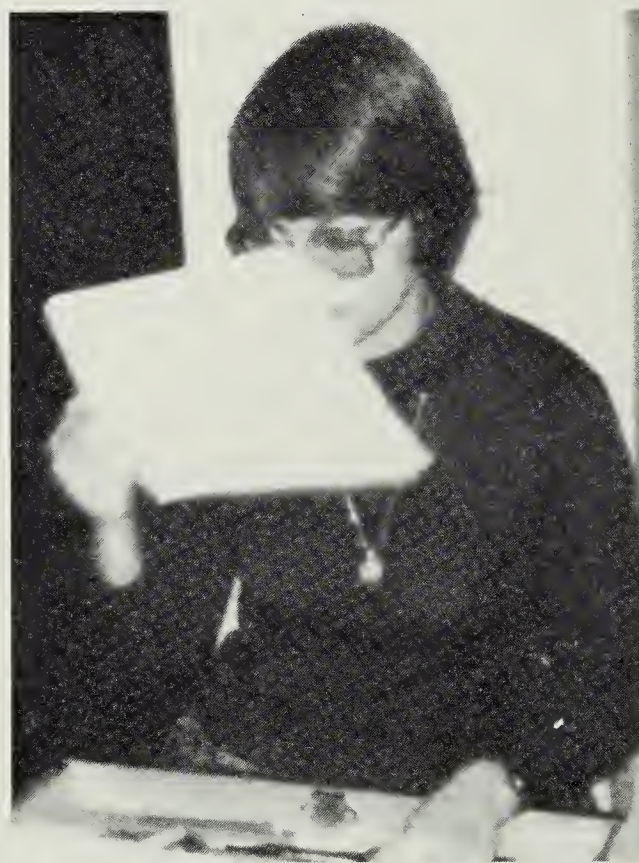

FACULTY

So you've gotten this far in the yearbook and you realize that the last major section left is — yes, FACULTY! Your first thought is “Why should I look at pictures of people whose only purpose was to assign homework and give tests?” Well there are reasons this section continues to appear year after year. As we, the students, pass through our four years of high school we make many friends. At least a few of these friends are teachers who were remarkable in their own special way. Everyone has a teacher they remember. So just as your class friends are recorded in this book, your teachers also deserve a space of their own. You wouldn't believe how many “Wanted” posters were cut up for the pictures.

Our Indian Echoes staff worked very hard this year to put this book together. We combined our ideas and energy to make a yearbook that would give us pictures and names to remember this school year forever. We had a lot of fun, as well as trying times, in making this book. We hope you will enjoy it and be proud of it as we are.
